

Follow The Lead Of A Game Changer

Here at 24 Seven, we have a team of experienced recruiters dedicated to helping freelancers achieve their full potential. When you start working for a new client as a freelancer for 24 Seven consider the following advice and remember:

Challenge yourself to push through your limitations

A new assignment can seem overwhelming – but if you push through any limitations and settle in, you might see the best of what the new assignment can be: rewarding, challenging and fun.

Meet the demand

When the client makes a request, your “can-do” attitude will make all of the difference. In the freelance world, the ones who are most successful are the ones who keep learning, keep improving and keep adapting.

Show versus tell

We all have heard, “actions speak louder than words”. When you are on a new assignment be sure you “show” what you are capable of doing.

If you want to be successful, you have to work at it

Those freelancers who achieve the most are often the ones who are the most passionate, and most determined to reach their goals. Put the time into the assignment/ project and your hard work will pay off.

Enjoy the Journey

We have all been successful in some aspect of our life and we all know how rewarding success is. When you start a new assignment or are continuing to work on an existing one, enjoy the process and dedicate the time to feel happy!

24 Seven realizes you have a lot of options as a freelancer. We are thrilled to be working with you and want to continue to build a winning relationship. When you start any assignment, be ready to give your best work and continue to change the game.
